

Question 1A requests permission from La Plata County voters to increase the property tax mill levy by 2.66 mills to fund the construction of a 222-bed detention facility adjacent to the existing jail and a portion of the increased operational cost. For comparative purposes, the resulting tax increase on a property owner with a home valued at $150,000 would be approximately $3.24 per month. In 20 years, after the jail construction costs are paid, the entire 2.66 mill levy increase will be eliminated.

Building a new county jail is a must:

- The existing jail, a former rifle scope factory, was retrofit to become the county jail in 1987. Due to the limitations of the original structure, the jail was inefficiently designed, and the poor lines of sight place deputies at risk performing even routine functions.
- Since opening, the jail has been plagued with chronic structural, mechanical and electrical problems that are labor intensive and increasingly costly to maintain.
- The jail was originally designed to house 88 inmates. Over time has been remodeled to create more bed space; yet it is consistently overcrowded. In fact, the average daily population has increased 116% from 1992 to 2000, from 51 inmates per day to 110 inmates per day.
- To keep the jail population in check, numerous alternatives to incarceration are employed for certain non-violent offenders who do not pose a threat to public safety and are likely to appear in court. Despite these proactive efforts, the jail population continues to climb.
- The increased jail population reflects the "get tough" attitude on the part of citizens towards persons convicted of serious crimes, mandatory sentencing guidelines, increased bonds requirements and penalties for certain types of crimes, and local population growth.
- Crowded conditions cause friction and direct conflict amount inmates, creating a difficult and unsafe environment for deputies. These conditions, coupled with poor facility design and infrastructure deficiencies, create a potential liability for the county and its taxpayers and a threat to officer safety that would be irresponsible to ignore.

The proposed detention facility is a no-frills, constitutionally compliant and efficiently designed facility that will meet the county's detention facility needs through 2020. The facility is expandable to 333 beds without additional construction or staffing increases by simply adding additional beds in certain cell units.

The total project cost is $24.6 million, and $21 million will be financed with the proposed mill levy increase. The county does not have adequate revenues to absorb the proposed jail costs. Consequently, if the county cannot generate new revenue to pay for the facility, the costs will need to be paid from existing revenue streams, directly impacting present services that citizens have come to expect and enjoy, and curtailing other capital improvements projects.

By voting "yes" and investing in a new jail, taxpayers will avoid the risk of costly litigation, prevent a federal court mandate to build a new jail, ensure that deputies work in a safe, secure environment, and preserve public safety.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS FOR THE BALLOT ISSUE:

Increased revenue is necessary to enable the library to return to the previous hours and services. An increase to the level requested will allow the library to be open seven days a week, with two full time employees, increasing services to the public.

Library resources will be more readily available with the increase in hours.

A budgetary increase will allow the library to purchase materials to meet the demand of the public, thus requiring fewer interlibrary referrals and loans.

Increased hours and services will attract more users.

Property tax is the only funding source available to the library, and those revenues are falling far short of the amounts needed to keep pace with the demand of the library users.

Library services have always been free of charge to users, but even if fees were charged, they would not begin to cover the costs of needed services, and would only be a hardship to the users.
